It is astonishing to see how inxuriantly the Japanese ivy and other wines of the clinging order turive. You see the root coming out of a small hole in the flags, and they certainly cannot have any too much earth or air or water to nourish them. But they go on and grow prosperously and cover the whole side of a house with their soft sheathing of glossy green leaves. The gentle copper yielding to the insinuating influence of the Summer is getting to go about with his cost unbuttoned. This is wrong. Policemen are something like soldiers and a ic-and-span neatness and formalty about heir personal appearance should be a characeristic with them.

Most of the hotels which have pictures run o a specific sort of thing in the matter of art. hey get a startlingly realistic picture of animals, or some large canvas representing a fall or a glacial mountain. The animal pictures are put under strong reflectors, and the spectator almost thinks he sees a brace of dogs, or a line of horses looking over a tence, or a flon in his care. Effectiveness is more desired than excellence.

One pretty feature of the life and movem at in the streets in the early morning is a cart filled with flower-pots havin plants in them in full broom. Such a miss of bright color as it makes in the prosaic street, with scarlet geraniums, magenta petunias and other plossoms it the most vivid has. In Presugterian Church circles Col. John & McCook is known as the "againg elder," but down in Wall street be does not let beresies and schismatics trouble him in the least. There he sails on an even keel among all sorts of believers and unbelievers, and the study of the West-minster Confession is only reserved for his nours of ease and recreation. Most of the artists are on the move for their Summer quarters. Those that have studios in the large buildings sub-let them, if possible, during the munths they are out of town. An grangement can often be made that is a twantageous to both parties to it. The artist is willing to let the studio furnished for the mere ordinary rent of the apariment, since this re-
